

FOX HUNTERS UNION MEETS

Held on Historic Fort Ridge Wednesday Night.—Two Hundred Present.

BARBECUE AND BURGEOO SERVED.

The annual meeting of the Fox Hunters Union was held Wednesday night on Fort Ridge, about one mile from this place. There were about two hundred people and one hundred dogs at the meeting. Several foxes were started but on account of the dry season none of them were caught. Several sheep were caught, however, and nicely barbecued. A large amount of delectable burgoo was served and every one enjoyed themselves immensely.

Parties from Earlington, Madisonville, Providence, St. Charles and the country were present. Among those who went from this place were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert King, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Withers and Miss Margaret Mitchell.

LOCAL DEMOCRATS ORGANIZE CLUB

Local Democrats organized a Wilson-Marshall-Knocheloe club at the city hall Thursday night with 50 members. F. B. Arnold acted as temporary chairman of the meeting. H. D. COWARD TO LEAVE EARLINGTON

Popular Merchant Will be Greatly Missed by Citizens of this City.

It is with much regret that The Bee publishes the going away of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Coward for we lose two of the best citizens we have, and their future home will certainly gain those that any community will certainly be proud of.

Mr. Coward came to Earlington 18 years ago last June and has at all times been a live wire, a good citizen and a loyal man to the church and all things pertaining to the uplifting of every thing that is good.

Mr. Coward's past record has been one of higher aims and has been a record that deserves much credit.

Mr. Coward came to Earlington in January sixteen years ago and was a faithful employee of the St. Bernard Mining Company's store under the management of Jas. R. Rash for several years. In the spring of 1908 Mr. Coward organized the firm of Barnes, Coward & Co., giving Earlington its first up to date retail mercantile store. He was manager, secretary and treasurer of the firm for seven years. In the spring of 1914 Mr. Coward opened a store for himself in the McLeod stand and has enjoyed a good business since.

Mr. Coward is an enterprising citizen, a progressive merchant and a booster for the town in which he lives. The Bee and other enterprises, especially the churches and benevolent societies will certainly miss Mr. and Mrs. Coward and his store for he is a man that never failed to respond both cheerfully and liberally when called upon regardless of faith or creed.

His life here has been one that would not be bad for others to follow, both as a business man, as a citizen and as a booster.

It is with much regret that we lose such people as Mr. and Mrs. Coward. Still it is our loss and the others gain.

We sincerely trust their future will be both happy and prosperous. Our gates stand unlocked for their return any time should they so desire.

"Hard buyers," men and women who buy with their heads as well as their pocketbooks, will be quick to take advantage of our four magazine bargain offer.

Local Woman Judge at Style Show

Mrs. H. L. Bramwell of this city has been invited to serve as one of the judges of the window display and store interior decoration contest to be held in Evansville retail stores Oct. 2 and 3.

Evansville is to conduct her Style Show and Fall Festival on a much more elaborate scale this season than ever before. The affair is under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club and the Manufacturers association are co-operating with the retail merchants to make the affair a big success.

Festivities begin Thursday night, Sept. 28, with the formal unveiling of the display windows by the Boy Scouts of the city. Two big free band concerts daily, a fashion parade of living models, a floral automobile parade, a community dance, a municipal exhibition, Ringling's circus and a special Rotary Day are among the features, which, in addition to special attractions in the stores, will make up again a week of interesting entertainment for the city's guests.

Evansville is sparing no pains to make herself popular as the metropolis of the Tri-State section.

Guided by Magnetic Currents.
Recent experience has tended to show that carrier pigeons and other birds of passage are guided by magnetic currents. M. A. Thaudes, a French student of pigeons, has noted that on two occasions when pigeon flights were unsatisfactory magnetic storms were occurring, and the flights of these birds have been becoming often uncertain and erratic since wireless telegraphy came into extensive use.

ARTICLE IN BEE FINDS BOY HOME

About three weeks ago The Earlington Bee contained an article headed, "Wanted a Home for an Orphan Child." Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Keown, of this city, read the article and at once made application to the Kentucky Home Finding Society for a little boy. Last Tuesday the little fellow came. His name is Harold Byrum and he is four years old. There is no doubt that he has found one of the best homes in Earlington and is exceedingly fortunate in so doing.

The lady who brought the boy from Louisville told a pathetic incident of another little tot who was so unfortunate as to have its leg amputated at the home. The discussion was up about finding homes for the children when this unfortunate waif spoke up and said: "I won't ever get any home now. Nobody wants me with one leg cut off."

There are hundreds of homes all over this land that need children to make life sweeter and better and there are hundreds of homeless children in the various institutions throughout the state that need these homes.

Trifles That Annoy.
How true it is that it's the little things that make or mar one's happiness! We know one noble and high-minded woman, for instance, whose whole life seemed blighted during a recent 24-hour period because she got a little too much bluing in the water she washed the curtains in.—Ohio State Journal.

Slight Omission.
A recruit being ordered aloft in a military balloon hesitated in obeying and complained to his captain, "Please, sir, in my oath of allegiance I swore to be true and faithful on land and water, but there was nothing said about air."—Boston Transcript.

KENTUCKY TROOPS

Take Prominent Part in First War Strength Division Review.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 21.—The Kentucky soldiers will play a prominent part today in the first war strength division review ever held in the United States. Brig. Gen. Roger Williams will be in command of one of the three infantry brigades, Col. William A. Colston, commander of the First Kentucky, merging the three Kentucky regiments. Other Kentucky officers selected to act in the review are Lieut. Col. Erskine Bassett, Hopkinsville; Maj. Dan Carroll, Louisville; Maj. C. W. Longmire, Frankfort, and Maj. Henry Rogers, of Earlington.

Maj. John H. Evans, of Beattyville, commanding the medical corps of the Second regiment, will be in charge of the medical corps of the war strength regiment.

Although there have been larger numbers of troops in former reviews in this country this will be the first review of a war strength regiment. The infantry companies in this review will be almost half the numerical strength of the ordinary regiment; for instance, the First Kentucky Infantry will make just two war strength companies. These two companies today will be commanded by Capt. Ernest Colston, of Louisville, and Capt. H. P. Reeves, of Shelbyville. The line will be twenty miles long.

Participating in the review were troops from the regular army, from Massachusetts, Michigan, Kentucky Ohio, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and New Mexico, in all 799 officers and 25,941 men. Eight thousand animals and 1,000 vehicles, including ambulances, gun carriages and supply wagons, helped to make up the pageant.

Millinery Openings Prove Success

The millinery openings of Barnes store, Brown Bros., and Mrs. M. A. Deshon were a decided success from every standpoint. The display of new fall millinery was varied and elaborate. There will be no occasion for any lady to leave Earlington this season in order to purchase stylish hats as the Earlington milliners have them in all styles, shapes and prices.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.
